MTH 181: MATHEMATICAL ANALYSIS I

This class is no longer offered as of Fall 2020.

This course teaches the methods and applications of finite mathematics applied to social science and business. Topics covered include solutions to linear equations and inequalities, mathematics of finance, matrices, linear programming, sets, probability and statistics. A graphing calculator is required for this course. See the time schedule for current brand and model.

Level I Prereq: Academic Reading and Writing Levels of 6; Academic Math Level 4

Swipe left to see full chart

Check the schedule